

Ronald McDonald House New York:
Our House
2010 Annual Report

RONALD MCDONALD
HOUSE® NEW YORK

Ronald McDonald House® New York provides a temporary “home-away-from-home” for pediatric cancer patients and their families. The House is a supportive and caring environment which encourages and nurtures the development of child-to-child and parent-to-parent support systems. Ronald McDonald House New York is the largest facility of its type in the world.

The House can accommodate 84 families, and is filled to capacity almost every night. Located in the heart of Manhattan, in close proximity to 13 major cancer treatment centers, Ronald McDonald House New York draws children and families from across the country and the world. Since its founding, more than 25,000 families have stayed at the House. Ronald McDonald House New York is a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit organization. For more information, visit www.rmh-newyork.org.

Dear Friends,

The rich history and legacy of Ronald McDonald House® New York is the theme of this year's annual report, and we couldn't be more inspired by the many families and supporters who contribute to the organization's success.

From a financial standpoint, Ronald McDonald House New York has emerged from the economic downturn that began in 2008 in a position of strength, having avoided reduction of services to children and families, program cuts, and layoffs that many not-for-profits and charities were forced to implement to balance their budgets.

However, for our families, volunteers and staff, the true definition of success is hope. Your support has helped people seeking treatment for pediatric cancer to know that the moment they walk through our doors, there is a haven filled with the type of support that they need to remain strong and courageous.

With each year, we've seen an increase in the need for housing as families travel to New York City for some of the most progressive treatments against pediatric cancer available worldwide. More than half of our families are considered medium- to long-term stays, calling Ronald McDonald House New York their home for weeks, months — and in some cases — years.

As the old proverb goes, "iron sharpens iron, and so one person sharpens another." The key to our success has been and will continue to be the wonderfully intricate weaving of relationships that's been formed over the 32 years that we've been in existence.

Through the vision of our Founder Vivian Harris, we were able to build many of those relationships with supporters throughout New York City, and we are proud to acknowledge that they remain a part of our family today.

This report demonstrates how that compassion and hard work makes a difference in the lives of our families. And the message is clear: Your giving helps families battling cancer to lead as close to normal lives as possible, and to find the hope that they need.

Sincerely,

Stanley B. Shopkorn
Chairman of the Board

“Every child is a story yet to be told.”

For a family traveling to New York City seeking lifesaving treatment for their child's cancer, stress, grief and uncertainty are among the many burdens that they carry with them on their journey.

Families come to New York with the hope that they will leave the House to begin a new life, leaving cancer behind.

What our guests find is a gentle respite from their battle; a place filled with love, light, and the support of thoughtful staff and volunteers who anticipate their every need.

The year 2010 represented a time of reflection and discovery as we said farewell to our beloved Founder Vivian Harris. Looking at her many accomplishments on behalf of children in need, we marveled at her vision and how her life story continues to inspire.

When Ronald McDonald House New York was introduced to the city in 1978, its goal was to provide more than just shelter. Mrs. Harris understood early on that the families need much more. She gave New York City gave. And this great city continues to give of its rich resources to provide a home filled with love, compassionate care, and a community environment that creates hope for healing.

In 2010, Ronald McDonald House New York served as a home-away-from-home for 640 families from 31 countries including the United States.

Of our corporate contributors, the industries were vast; spanning fashion and retail, financial, construction, insurance, entertainment, maritime and real estate. Community groups from around the city broke bread with our families almost every night, and provided a constant stream of inspiration and encouragement.

And who better to understand and empathize with our mission of serving families than foundations whose generous consideration led to two new terraces, a new roof, and other capital projects that helped us to rebuild after a fire caused significant damage to our entire lower level.

The expression about every child having a story to be told is displayed prominently in our Macy's Living Room; a place where we all have come together to share stories of how they arrived at the House.

As you read through this report, we hope that you will feel a sense of pride in knowing that you play a very important role in the story of Ronald McDonald House New York. We hope that you will continue to be a part of our legacy for many years to come.

Vivian Harris: Our Founder, Our Inspiration

and the Story of Ronald McDonald House New York

When New York City-based philanthropist and children's advocate Vivian Harris made the decision in 1978 to help families battling pediatric cancer, it was a decision that would change many lives for the better.

For families coming to New York City seeking cancer treatments that were not available to them in their hometowns, and the only thing more intimidating than traveling to the Big Apple was the prospect of finding an affordable place to stay.

For Mrs. Harris, a volunteer leader who had served on behalf of a number of organizations dedicated to assisting children in need, it was a difficult decision. However, by the end of the first year, she was certain that it was the right decision.

More than 32 years later, over 25,000 families have come to call what is now known as Ronald McDonald House New York their home-away-from-home.

To this day, Mrs. Harris' influence can still be felt throughout the hallways of the facility. Her personality was larger than life, and it showed in the myriad ways that she displayed love of family, and a commitment to helping people.

Mrs. Harris' thoughtful approach to caregiving was the cornerstone of the House's standards of hospitality. In fact, one of her greatest achievements resulted in moving "the House" into an 84-room facility that would not only provide families with a clean, comfortable place to stay, but one conveniently located within walking distance to nearby medical centers.

Her tremendous heart and vision were both dedicated to one goal: providing shelter for families whose children had been stricken with cancer. Mrs. Harris' work gave hope to many when the illness had robbed them of the energy to fight. The house of hope that she created has led to a legacy of giving for many New Yorkers who have been touched by the mission of Ronald McDonald House New York.

In June 2010, Mrs. Harris passed away. Stories of her generosity and kindness are still shared by families past and present, as we continue to celebrate her inspirational legacy of love, determination to overcome adversity against all odds, and faith in humanity.

Mrs. Harris' work is just the beginning of our story. Her memory and legacy to our families, our mission, New York City, and the world will live on forever.

Ronald McDonald House New York and the Heart of New York City

Our story began with Vivian Harris, but it also includes so much more.

Located in the heart of New York City, it's no surprise that a key part of our success has been the outpouring of love and support from our surrounding community.

"Skate with the Greats" was introduced more than 17 years ago, creating a lasting partnership between Ronald McDonald House® New York and the Garden of Dreams Foundation.

Whether it's a child with cancer, or a without, there's no greater feeling than looking up and receiving a helping hand from a legendary NHL Hall of Famer such as Rod Gilbert or Brian Leetch. Both players have been involved with Skate from the beginning, and still lend a helping hand to the House to this day.

Many have heard the expression "It takes a village..."

At Ronald McDonald House New York, it takes thousands of dedicated hearts and minds throughout the city to care for our families. There is no sight more extraordinary than seeing those hearts and minds coming together during our annual Block Party in October.

Sen. Krueger Proclaims October 2, 2010 as "NYS Therapy Dog Day."

It's a street fair experience unlike any other, living right in the heart of the city. Volunteers including the New York City Police Department's 19th Precinct, the Fire Department of New York, the Yonkers Fire Department, Dallas BBQ and Tony's DiNapoli, La Caja China, Team Ronald McDonald volunteers, and even our very own residents pitched in to produce a day of fun, food, culture and community that can only be found on this very special block on East 73rd Street.

The 2010 Block Party marked a new milestone for Ronald McDonald House New York when we received an official visit from New York State Senator Liz Krueger (D-Manhattan). Sen. Krueger proclaimed October 2, 2010 as the first-ever "New York State Therapy Dog Day."

The holiday season brought an unending supply of visitors through our doors with many bearing gifts of love, hope and peaceful blessings. For families dealing with the bittersweet emotions of being away from their original home at that time of year, the enormous compassion offered by New Yorkers serves as a healing balm.

Our "Light a Light, Share a Night" house lighting ceremony invited our neighbors to join us as we lit the Hanukkah menorah, Christmas tree, and the Kwanzaa kinara. Of course, our community included the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes and Santa; The New York Pops; the Company Store; the Epiphany Madrigal Singers, who shared a moving gospel tribute; and our very own Ronald McDonald House New York choir.

It's a house built on making lifelong connections and sharing. And in a town known as "the city that never sleeps," we think of New York as the city that never stops caring. And for that, we're grateful.

Gala honorees Vera Wang and Frank Bisignano with his daughter Morgan along with Stanley Shopkorn, William Sullivan, RMH-NY children and Ronald McDonald.

Gala emcee Whoopi Goldberg showcased her many talents in support of kids battling cancer.

The October Block Party included an international flair thanks to the resident moms who lent a hand.

Our "Share a Night" house lighting ceremony invited the local community to celebrate a season of hope, peace and faith.

The legendary Radio City Music Hall Rockettes and Santa were among the neighbors who helped to celebrate the holidays with our families.

Quality of Life for All

In Emma Lazarus' "The New Colossus" the powerful words, "Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door," can be found mounted on the Statue of Liberty. For centuries, those words have served as a constant reminder of the millions of people that have come to New York City seeking a safe haven in times of distress. No truer statement could be made about the mission of Ronald McDonald House® New York.

With the help of our local community, we've been able to create an environment where children staying at the House are treated like kids first, and not just kids with cancer. It's a place that offers more than simply bricks-and-mortar shelter, and is filled with love and comfort.

When guests enter our Playroom in the Lower Level Lounge, they find that no day spent with our Programs department is ever like the one before. Most of our families' energy is devoted to a grueling schedule of chemotherapy, radiation, antibody therapy and other aggressive treatments. There are many aspects of life that they simply don't have the time to enjoy. We believe that learning shouldn't be one of those things.

Through a partnership with local private and public schools, our Programs department helps to facilitate sessions between resident children and their home-school instructors and tutors. Our comprehensive program affords educational opportunities for the more than 40 parents, and siblings as well. For our international families, two tutors visit the House regularly to provide English as a Second Language lessons. The benefits to our parents include a better understanding of medical terms used in reference to their child's treatment, and to better identify social nuances that they may not be accustomed to.

Our music education partnership with the New York Pops reached new heights in 2010 when the children of the Ronald McDonald House New York chorus performed at Carnegie Hall as part of the Pops' 27th birthday gala. Singing alongside Frank Sinatra, Jr., the chorus received a standing ovation!

As with most programming activities, it starts with an inspired spark and then takes on a life of its own. Activities to bolster literacy led to the creation of our very own Press Crew newsletter that is written and designed by children living at Ronald McDonald House. It's premise? To tell the story of life at the House through the prism of the eyes of the kids who live in it.

Sometimes the biggest sacrifice is the enjoyment of social activities. In May, the first-annual Spring Social event was introduced. Inspired by prom season, 39 families staying with us traded stress and worry for a night of glamour and fun. The event was completely underwritten by the local community and for one night, our families left cancer at the door and totally embraced the experience.

The Family Support program ensures that residents receive spiritual and psychological care when they need it most. Integrative wellness nights are a true "hands-on" effort, where local reiki and yoga specialists volunteer their time to provide complementary

The sweet sound of music fills the hallways where music lessons with the New York Pops can only be described as uplifting.

The "Press Crew" represents the latest success of our literacy program; Ronald McDonald House New York residents write and produce their own newsletter.

It started out as an inspired spark, and ended in an evening of magical memories that would last a lifetime. For one night the Spring Social transported families to a place where fun was the focus — and not cancer.

Our "Angel on a Leash" therapy dog volunteers greet families every day with a smile and a gentle touch.

healing care to parents. Through relationships with local organizations, religious and cultural observations are provided to families who request them.

"Scrapbooking for Moms," interfaith prayer groups, and bilingual prayer groups offer former residents an opportunity to give back as volunteers, helping other families to connect, and find relief among their peers.

Canine volunteers help to round out the day by greeting guests and visitors in the lobby daily.

Introduced in 2006 with just a few dogs, the "Angel on a Leash" therapy dog program has now grown to include more than 20 teams. Their impact is unmistakable, and their appeal irresistible to the children, parents, staff and volunteers who meet them and their handlers.

Each activity is unique in its own way, but its intent is always clear: to promote healing, and alleviate suffering. As each family member thrives, we know that we're part of the cure.

Meet Khamid Khamidov

Khamid Khamidov, 16, currently lives at Ronald McDonald House New York while undergoing active treatment for acute lymphoblastic leukemia.

Khamid and his family moved in to Ronald McDonald House® New York in August 2010, just two months shy of his sixteenth birthday. Originally from Tajikistan, the family had arrived in the U.S. in June to receive treatment for acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL) at a partner hospital.

Khamid received a bone marrow transplant as a treatment for his leukemia, and then spent a portion of his 100-day post-transplant recovery at the hospital.

Upon his discharge, the Khamidov family was unable to return to Tajikistan while Khamid recovered from his cancer, so they found a new place to call home nearly 7,000 miles away at Ronald McDonald House New York.

In the summer, while caring for her son in the hospital, Khamid's mother Nargis gave birth to a little girl. Together, the family was reunited at their new home in New York City. As Khamid continues treatment for his cancer, they will stay at Ronald McDonald House New York.

Originally from Tajikistan, the Khamidov family can call Ronald McDonald House New York their home-away-from-home in New York City.

Since their arrival, the Khamidov family has had access to a wonderful array of services at Ronald McDonald House New York. In the morning, Khamid receives an hour of homeschool per day where he studies math and English. He often spends time with his friends in the Playroom, and hopes to someday be an engineer. In the afternoon, Khamid helps his mother to take care of his two younger sisters Robiya and Amina, ages eight months and two-years-old, respectively.

While Khamid recovered from his transplant, his mother gave birth to baby sister Robiya.

The Khamidov family continues to thrive thanks to the assistance of our supporters.

Together at the House, the Khamidovs have found a place of healing and hope during a very important time in the children's lives.

Of course, being able to help families like the Khamidovs would not be possible with the help of supporters like you.

Thank you.

Setting New Standards in Hospitality for Families in Crisis

A House is not a home without the support of the local community that helps to fill its hallways with love.

More than 32 years of providing that very service to families has allowed us to identify new and thoughtful ways to accommodate the unique needs of our families.

As with any building that's been in existence for 20 years or more, the roof is a major concern. This year's capital projects focused on ensuring that our two terraces on the third and seventh floors, as well as the roof of the building, were refurbished to a new level of stability and longevity using the best materials available.

This project was a major undertaking that would have been difficult to achieve without the generous assistance of the family of the late Jon Lawrence Shevell. In just eight weeks, the third and seventh floor terraces were available to our families at the start of the summer season. While the third floor terrace offers a more streamlined play space, and an enhanced outdoor entertainment experience during the dinner hour, the seventh floor terrace offers a fully landscaped tranquil space dedicated to relaxation and education.

A major unplanned capital project turned out to be the renovation of our basement, which has since

Our newly renovated seventh floor terrace, provided courtesy of the Shevell family, is dedicated to relaxation and education. It also serves as home to a greenhouse maintained by the families and staff.

been renamed the "Lower Level Lounge." An unfortunate fire caused the loss of our Playroom, office space and much-needed storage; however we used the opportunity to apply a few strategic renovations during the rebuilding process:

- The donation of a wall mural from Jon and Penny Goldwater and the artists of Archie Publications brought a splash of classic color to our Playroom. It opened just in time for summer camp!

- A computer lab offers both Mac and PC computers so that guests can keep friends and family members informed of their progress.
- A newly redesigned music room was built for our young entertainers who take lessons with the New York Pops twice per week.
- Dedicated space was created for our evening programs manager along with lockers to accommodate volunteer groups who visit the House to serve dinner and host activities.

In late fall, we began our final project of the year, and it couldn't have come too soon given the snowy conditions that greeted us during the holiday season! Through the generous support of the Gertrude and Louis Feil Family and the Sol and Margaret Berger Foundations, our holiday season was filled with extreme gratitude for the new roof over the building.

Our Wish List plays a major role in helping our supporters to understand the unique needs of our families. From birthday party supplies, to school supplies, to gift cards and electronics, these donated items help to offset costs while still providing many basic necessities.

All of these things lend to a strong commitment by our House volunteers, staff and the community at-large to provide families with a clean, safe environment that encourages healing.

The "Jon Shevell Lawrence Third Floor Terrace" provides a modern play space and entertainment area for families and community groups during the warmer months.

Service

For every individual needing help at Ronald McDonald House® New York, there is always a dedicated volunteer or staff member nearby to hold their hand. In addition to our 47 full-time staff members, Team Ronald McDonald's 250 volunteers assist our families in groups every night of the week. Their presence provides our families with a smile, a shoulder to lean on, and the reassurance that they need to face the next day's challenge.

As part of their commitment, Team Ronald McDonald members choose one night per week to volunteer at the House. For many it becomes a relationship that will last for the rest of their lives. In fact, our longest-serving volunteer has been a part of the Ronald McDonald House New York family for more than 30 years!

Alongside those dedicated team members, the House counts Royal Bank of Canada Capital Markets, America Online, Tony's DiNapoli, Dallas BBQ, the Kiwanis Club, the Guy M. Stewart Cancer Fund, Temple Emanu-El, and many others among the organizational partners who give of their time and resources to feed and entertain our families after a long day of treatment.

Bonds are formed, families, staff and volunteers find new strength, and lives are changed. Its impact is immeasurable — unless you take the time to count the smiles and comforting hugs!

Our families had a "Thriller" of a time during the Children's Happy Faces Foundation Halloween Party.

During the November Kid's Fun Run, NYC's school children came together to help kids their age who are battling cancer.

Volunteer educator Christine Taylor and Mike Dauphin of Hole in the Wall Gang Camp helped our summer camp participants to realize their acting potential in the filming of "Planet Wannabe."

The NYPD's 19th Precinct has volunteered with the House for more than 23 years. Their service to our families has meant the world to us.

Canine volunteers round out our program with 23 teams participating in our "Angel on a Leash" therapy dog program.

Be a Part of Our Legacy

There is no greater, more powerful act on this earth than the act of giving.

A major part of Ronald McDonald House® New York's success lies in the overwhelming compassion of people like our Founder Vivian Harris, and others who have sought to ensure that their generosity would continue to help families in need as a part of their legacy.

home-away-from-home for tens of thousands of families in need.

More than 32 years later, Mrs. Harris' influence can still be felt in the lives of the hundreds of people who dedicate their hearts to helping kids with cancer.

Her commitment is just one example of the fine New Yorkers who have taken up our cause as their own, and made their work on behalf of Ronald McDonald House New York in your estate, you'll be placing a meaningful reminder to your loved ones about supporting a very special cause that you believe in.

McDonald House New York their life's legacy.

When Mrs. Harris began her work assisting families battling pediatric cancer, her commitment ignited the spark that would ultimately create the largest

We invite you to join Mrs. Harris, the late Jon Lawrence Shevell, and many others who have designated the House to receive a portion of their estate through our Planned Giving program.

Become a part of our legacy today.

Your gift will help us to provide more than bricks-and-mortar shelter, but a home-away-from-home for our families with a range of social, educational and spiritual support services.

We believe that care for the entire family is part of the cure.

For more information, contact Richard Martin, Director of Development at (212) 639-0206, or via email at rmartin@rmh-newyork.org.
